EXPERIENCE

KEMPS's Legal Director brings the technical excellence and ocean-deep legal knowledge you would expect from a maritime specialist with 30 years' expertise in shipping, insurance and international trade litigation and arbitration.

But GJ, as he is known, attributes his distinguished track record to softer skills: the key to success in dispute resolution is to instil confidence on all sides. That belief in the importance of trust and strong communication sets the tone for his whole practice.

A $30 million insurance dispute spanning three national jurisdictions and four major firms required him to convince all parties to agree on the applicable law in the case before they could broach a settlement. His bilingual fluency in Chinese and English make him particularly in demand among Mainland businesses expanding internationally, but it's the premium he places on relationship-building that turns GJ's clients into long-term strategic partners and friends.
