EXPERIENCE

A twenty-year veteran commercial litigator, Yeeling is KEMP's pragmatist-in-chief. She approaches each case with her focus squarely on her clients' business objectives and the real value her expertise can add.

Clients value her straight-shooting guidance and trust her to fight determinedly for the right resolution.

Commercial litigation chose Yeeling, rather than the other way around: it was a fit for her assertive, tenacious style, and propelled her to partnership in a Big Law environment at a young age. That fast-track success gave her a thorough technical grounding – and also a desire to practise in the setting most conducive to doing her best work. KEMP is that setting: a firm of friends who bring heavyweight expertise to helping power their clients' success, and who cultivate a nimble, flexible and mutually supportive environment in which to do it.
